

Thurman, John

Sketch

Oct 1913

October 7th, 1913

J. J. Fower, Esq.,

Halifax, N.S.

Dear Mr. Fower:

I received your letter of September 24th some time ago, but in the many engagements incident upon the opening of the session we have not had time to consider the suggestions fully. On talking it over with the Registrar he thought that it was very doubtful whether our Senate would be willing to ask the University of London to accept our LL. B. as an equivalent of their Intermediate Law examination. It is probable that our Senate would think that some more advanced recognition should be given. I will, however, lay the matter before the Committee on Legal Studies and ask their opinion in the matter.

Yours sincerely,

President.